

Pitchers, Outfielders, and Coaches

Pitcher Buck “Bobo” Newsom was by all accounts a well-traveled, larger-than-life personality. In his 24-year career, Newsom played for 10 different teams. He pitched eight seasons for the Senators, over five separate tenures (1935-37, 1942, 1943, 1946-7, and 1952).

Washington Senators Coach and former player Clyde Milan was an outfielder with the Senators from 1907-1922. Milan played with Ty Cobb and set a record for stolen bases (88) in 1912, a record surpassed three years later by Cobb. Milan had the most steals (495) in Washington history. Milan became a Coach for the Senators in 1928-29 and again from 1938 until 1953.
